The CSU Libraries requires two copies of each thesis or dissertation printed on 100% cotton bond paper. These will be delivered to the library by the CSU Print Shop. The two library copies will be made public – one in the circulating collection and the other in Archives. All theses and dissertations submitted to the library will be converted to an electronic (digital) format and posted on CSU ePress, the library's institutional repository.

Release Options

Check one of the following to indicate your consent to have the library host your electronic thesis or dissertation:

1. Provide open and immediate public access to the Thesis or Dissertation using the Creative Commons CC-BY-NC license (<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/2.0/>)
2. Embargo: restrict public access for 2 years. Requires written documentation of patentability, confidentiality agreements, or restrictive prepublication/post publication policies. Requires PRIOR approval by the Associate Provost and Director of Graduate Studies. Under the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia's Records Retention Series (K72), graduate theses and dissertations are public records and must be maintained by CSU Libraries in a "Permanent Institutional Archive" and made available to the public upon request. All CSU theses and dissertations will be held in both the library's circulating collection and in the University Archives. For electronic theses and dissertations, the "permanent institutional archive" is the CSU Institutional repository also known as the "CSU ePress." For more information, see the BOR's record Retention Manual, p. 125 (http://georgialibraries.org/lib/publiclib/USG\_Records\_Retention\_Manual.pdf).
